Boarding Patrol: Genestealer Cults miniatures set

The hideously warped followers of the Genestealer Cults infest every corner of Imperial space, forever plotting to spread their fervent devotion and genetic taint. Such cults will even hijack spaceborne vessels and ancient, drifting space hulks in an effort to overthrow their oppressors, employing ambush and subterfuge to outmanoeuvre their enemies through twisting and shadowy walkways. When the Day of Ascension arrives, they will be ready.

Boarding Patrol: Genestealer Cults provides a melee-focused force of fanatical mutants, perfectly suited to tearing enemies asunder in games of Warhammer 40,000 – especially in the dense and deadly Boarding Action missions detailed in the Arks of Omen series – and will save you money compared to buying the kits individually.

The Kelermorph leads the way, firing a trio of customised pistols with deadly accuracy in close quarters. Behind him follow 10 Acolyte Hybrids, armed with repurposed industrial machinery and inspired by their rebel leader. Foes hardy enough to survive their onslaught will be crushed by the grotesque, hulking Abominant, leading five of his lesser Aberrant siblings through the winding corridors of the space hulk.

This set includes the following:

- 1x Kelermorph
- 1x Abominant
- 5x Aberrants
- 10x Acolyte Hybrids, which can alternatively be built as Hybrid Metamorphs

This box can be used to assemble a variety of units – the recommended build for Boarding Action games is a Kelermorph, Abominant, five Aberrants, and two five-model units of Acolyte Hybrids.

All models are supplied with their appropriate bases. These miniatures are supplied unpainted and require assembly – we recommend using Citadel Plastic Glue and Citadel Colour paints.

Rules for playing Boarding Action games of Warhammer 40,000 can be found in the Arks of Omen: Abaddon supplement. Additional rules for Genestealer Cults Boarding Patrols can be found in Arks of Omen: Vashtorr.
